TELEGRAMS.

Attempt to Promote N. & C. Cattle Exports at the Expense of Canada.

(Special to The Herald.)

Montréal, July 7.—Cattle shippers who are endeavoring to induce the Government to allow the shipment of American cattle via Montreal have received several enquiries from large cattle dealers and pasture owners in Great Britain as to the likelihood of the shipment succeeding. The English drovers say that if well inspected American cattle were sent to Great Britain via Canada it would be a great advantage not only to English cattlemen but to owners of the extensive pastures. Dr. Macdonald, government inspector of cattle, is still strongly opposed to the slightest tampering with existing quarantine regulations.

Small Pox at Quebec.

(Special to The Herald.)

Quebec, July 7.—The last Strata from Marseille, France, is detained in quarantine as Grossé Isle having small pox on board. Two cases on the page died; others are now afflicted.

The Widow of a deceased Statesman passes away.

(Special to The Herald.)

Montréal, July 7.—The widow of the late Hon. Joseph Howe died at Dartmouth yesterday aged 84.

They Missed the Senator.

(Special to The Herald.)

Quebec, July 7.—Warrants have been issued for the arrest of 25 residents of the parish of St. Anne de la Pointe for illegally detaining in custody Senator Pelletier on the day of the recent Quebec elections.

Against Sunday Concerts.

(Special to The Herald.)

Montréal, July 7.—Archbishop Fabre makes an official announcement forbidding Sunday concerts.

Great Orange Demonstration in Winnipeg.

(Special to The Herald.)

Winnipeg, July 7.—Details connected with the Great Orange Demonstration here, July 12th, are now complete. It is expected to be the greatest gathering in the history of the province; seven brass bands will be in attendance, and it is estimated that from 7,000 to 10,000 Orangemen from outside places will be in attendance. There will be a monster procession and mass meeting in the afternoon, and in the evening an effort will be made to form a branch of the Equal Rights party for the Dominion.

More Protested Elections.

(Special to The Herald.)

Toronto, July 7.—The election of Hon. G. W. Ross for West Middlesex and Dr. Gilmore for West York have been protested.

Corwall Leads.

(Special to The Herald.)

Corwall, Ont., July 7.—The home club defeated the Toronto in a close contest on Saturday, four to two, making themselves leaders in the championship contest.

Heavy Fire in a Michigan Town.

(Special Telegram to The Herald.)

East Tawas, Mich., July 7.—The barge Sea Owl was burned to the water's edge yesterday morning. The flames communicated to the lumber yards along the bay destroying $1,000,000 worth.

CALGARY ILLUSTRATED.

Close examination of the Calgary Number of the Dominion Illustrated shows that it is not calculated to give perfect satisfaction to its readers. The letter press supplied by Mr. Macdonald appears to be accurate and reliable, and some valuable data are given in articles by other writers to its advantage, but there seems to be a good deal of unnecessary repetition. This is not the fault of the writers of the articles, who, by request, have been sending in material independent of each other and without knowledge of the scope of each other's articles. The fault lies entirely with the editor at Montreal, who, having a large mass of material placed in his hands, does not appear to have had the capacity to select it in happy harmonious and connected story. The material has simply been plunked into the paper, instead of being carefully revised and edited. In one case, a contribution of about seventy lines appears twice, word for word, first on page 415 under the heading, "They Farming in the Calgary District," and again on page 422 under the title of "Dairy Farming in the Calgary District." In the case of the authorship is ascribed to "Mr. James Huby of Calgary." It is the only article in the paper that is not signed by the author. The author was contributor James Huby. We have spoken of this as a "contribution" as a matter of fact it is copied bodily from a C. P. R. pamphlet. There are two articles on the early days of Calgary, one on page 410, a second at page 418, when one would have sufficient cause to wonder at Mr. Field's portrait as the only portrait in the paper. The material is given great offence, especially as every body knows it is not original. It was considered expedient to publish portraits, certainly precedence should be given to some of our own people as the city as a whole, such as the Mayor or some leading pioneer such as Major Walker, or some representative of the Dominion authority, such as Colonel Herchmer or Major Ross, or the bearer of redemptive authority, Bishop Phibbs. Again, the material in the public buildings it is remarkable that neither the author nor the editor of the Dominion Illustrated, the two most prominent features among our own editors, was photographed while in possession of both the Bank of Montreal and the Alberta Hotel was missing, except on a minor scale, and the King block is absent entirely. It is singularly absent, stated—that these may be forthcoming in future numbers, but they should have appeared in the Calgary number in preference to some other engravings which find a place there. As regards grouping of private residences, eight of them on a single page, several of them as handsome buildings as can be found in Canada, this seems like treating them, in the circumstances, with contempt. On the whole, the material is of great value in the Calgary number. The town is not properly represented in the engravings, people do not see the very best side of it, however, the grievance which has been paid for by private individuals, has been the subject of honor. This, we apprehend, is the naked truth.

Nevertheless, we adhere to the opinion that the town gate value for it is contributed. It pays $500 for 1000 copies, and no one can honestly say we do not get $200 worth of benefit. There are many defects, many blunders, but the general effect will be beneficial. People will read of Calgary who never heard of it before. They will see in the illustrations and in the descriptions of the town that we have a town of which we do well to be proud. The attention of capitalists will be directed to Calgary through this medium. Those seeking a pleasant home will be drawn to the comfort and attractions which Calgary can offer. And in a variety of ways our town will be benefited. Making the allowance for some errors and other defects, the $200 which the town disbursed for the Calgary number will still be a good investment.

McMillan at the Barracks.

John McMillan, of Dunbar, Dundas Co., Ont., who was sentenced to 14 days in prison with hard labor in addition to the fine, for cruelty to animals, was taken down to the barracks on Saturday. Police Officer Barter took him to the Police hotel for one meal on Friday, and McMillan was under the impression that the town was obliged to find him in food. When he learned that he was to have to pay for his keep he refused to eat any more until taken to the barracks. Here he will be obliged to eat what is served and will be under the impression that he had done nothing wrong in his cruel treatment of the horse.

More Church Sunday School.

Yesterday evening there was an interesting children's service in Knox Church. The pastor delivered a most appropriate address and the singing was conducted mostly by the children, popular hymns being rendered in a very creditable manner. The report of Mr. Crighton, the Sunday school Superintendent, was very satisfactory, showing very large additions to the teaching staff, the library and the school attendance, in the past six months. A special collection was taken up for the benefit of the school funds, two little ministers, Murdoch and Mitchell, acting as collectors.

IMMIGRATION OFFICERS.

The Lethbridge News urges the appointment in that town of a Dominion immigration agent or intelligence officer whose duty it shall be to furnish information to prospective settlers in the neighborhood. It says "there is no reason why Lethbridge, the most important town in southern Alberta, should not receive the same advantages in this respect as 'enjoyed by Medicine Hat and Calgary.' That is quite true, and our contemporary is to be commended for securing all the 'advantages' possible, of every kind, for its town. If, however, it really believes that Calgary is lacking in the smattering of studies 'advantages' from this service or that a marvellous prosperity results from the superhuman efforts of immigration agents and intelligence officers in this quarter, it is living under a pleasing but a vain delusion. The Calgary district owes nothing whatever to any assistance rendered by the Immigration Department, and indeed we might present Lethbridge with our immigration outfit bodily and 'it never would be missed.' It looks now as if, when a Northwest district wishes to secure immigrants and the settlement of its lands, it will have to do this business for itself. One good active Lethbridge man, paid by Lethbridge and acting under the eye of the people of Lethbridge, will do more to help settle up that section of country than all the immigration agents from Alberta to London. And this is just where matters are drifting to. The inhabitants of Alberta seem willing that the responsibility of settling the country should be thrown on their own shoulders rather than on the Government, and they should be willing, also, to pay the piper." At present the immigration department of Canada is efficient, worthless and contemptible, and as long as the Canadian people are willing that it should remain so they must not complain of the expense which their submission to such a state of things involves.

Wagoner's Guide.

Wagoner's Guide for July is out, embodying all alterations and additions to tables of travel by rail, stage, ocean and lake, and recording all changes in the general business of tables in the Province. It gives all the new post offices opened and mail service connections, the time cards of the different roads and useful through railway connections, in a neat, clear manner; the fares, etc., of the Atlantic steamships, and devotes space to the Dominion lands and mineral regions; municipalities, their boundaries and officials; land registration districts; educational, military, legal, civil, Masonic and other matters. In fact, it seems thoroughly and accurately to embody everything useful that is required, and with the maps of the Province, Dominion and Winnipeg appears to well earn its right to the general testimony that whatever you want "You'll find it in Wagoner's Guide."

Messrs. Grant & Huxford have been awarded the contract of erecting twenty cottages for the Alberta Railway & Coal Co., at Lethbridge, and about twenty two carpenters arrive here from Grant Falls last week to work on them. The buildings are to be erected principally on section 5, north of the track—Lethbridge News.
